DAUGHERTY GETS WRIT ENJOINING STRIKING FORCES

Temporary Order Issued by Wilkerson Today Against Idle Shopmen.

BLAME IS CENTERED

Shopcrafts Will Appeal to Supreme Court for Absolution.

(By the Associated Press)
CHICAGO, Sept. 23.—Judge Wilkerson today granted Attorney General Daugherty's petition for a nationwide temporary injunction against the striking railroad shopmen.
Judge Wilkerson, in a lengthy review of the case, said the defendants could not deny knowledge and responsibility for the widespread violence which has marked the strike. Partial settlement of the strike, he held, has not affected the right of the government to obtain a nationwide injunction.
The court gave attorneys for the defense until Monday morning to study the decision and prepare to argue the text of the injunction order which will be signed.
Indications that the shopcrafts leaders would appeal to the supreme court was given by the defense counsel.

ASPHALT PLANT RESUMES WORK HERE THURSDAY

Ada asphalt plant, operating as one of the branches of the Oklahoma Rock and Asphalt company, with headquarters at Oklahoma City, resumed crushing Thursday after being closed down for some time. Heavy shipments are being made at present to Hugo, where a big paving project is being carried out, and to points in Texas, according to J. O. Tipton, manager.
Fifteen wagons are being run to haul materials, it is understood, and the plant is pulverizing about 100 tons a day.
During the last fifteen years the plant has shipped approximately 5,000 cars, Mr. Tipton estimated. He expects the machines to be kept in operation now almost constantly, because of an increasing demand for asphalt.

U. C. V. DELEGATES MAY GET TICKETS MONDAY AT 2 P. M.

Confederate veterans of the city or county who wish to take advantage of free tickets to the state convention at Shawnee opening Tuesday have been requested to meet Captain A. M. Crow, commander of William Byrd camp, at the office of Court Clerk L. E. Franklin promptly at 2 o'clock Monday afternoon.
The Ada delegatin will leave on the 4:34 Katy for Shawnee. Captain Crow will have certificates, badges, tickets and all necessary vouchers for the veterans.
Ada is expected to send one of the biggest delegations of any camp in the state. At least 20 men will go, Captain Crow believes. An effort will be made to bring the 1923 convention to Ada.

Harry Poulin Will Take Stand in Own Behalf Late Today

(By the Associated Press)
SOUTH BEND, Sept. 23.—Indications were that Harry Poulin, accused by Mrs. Tiernan with being the father of her ten months old child, would take the stand today in an effort to prove his innocence.
If Poulin takes the stand he will not be obliged to face the crowded galleries who have greeted the other witnesses. At the close of yesterday's hearing, the judge announced that the galleries would be closed to all spectators hereafter, with the exception of press representatives and persons directly interested.

The editor of the Boston News Bureau writes of "the failure of our public school system to give proper education as to money and the functions of money."

American Seeks to Swim Across Channel Today

DOVER, Eng., Sept. 23.—Charles Toth, long distance swimmer of Boston, started from a point midway between Dover and Folkestone at 8:45 last night in another attempt to swim the English channel.
The captain of a mail steamer, upon his arrival here this morning, reported sighting Toth, accompanied by a launch, a little more than half way across the channel.
On his last attempt, on August 2, Toth was forced to quit when only four miles from his goal.

Where Many Covetous Eyes are Gazing As Turks Threaten to Invade Europe

Figures and shaded portions of map indicate territories on which Balkan States and Turkey have their eyes. While the situation in the near east grows more acute as the Turks threaten to cross into Europe and regain territory lost in the war, the Balkan States are casting covetous eyes on additional territory which they hope to acquire should war break out in Thrace, which the Turks desire. Jugo-Slavia is willing to aid England if England will promise the Jugo-Slavs Salonica (1) as a reward. Salonica is now held by the Greeks. Bulgaria wants a strip of eastern Thrace (2) and Roumania and Jugo-Slavia have warned the Bulgarian government to halt the depredations of bandits on the Thracian border. The Turks have their eyes on that part of Thrace (3) which they had before the war. The Turks threaten to invade and try to hold the occupied allied zones (4) on both sides of the straits if the Greeks attempt to enter them.

58 CHILDREN ARE INJURED IN SHOW

Collapse of Movie Floor Fatal to Small Girl; Invited to "Trap."

(By the Associated Press)
PITTSBURGH, Sept. 23.—City officials conducting an investigation of the collapse of the foyer of the Strand theatre yesterday afternoon, began this forenoon to take statements of the 58 school children, most of whom were injured when the concrete floor dropped to the basement. Madeline Kunkle, aged 8, one of those invited to the free showing of the picture, "The Trap", was killed and 18 of the injured are in a hospital. Only four are in a critical condition. Several suffered broken arms or legs.
Free tickets had been issued to school children for yesterday's show. Scores of them, gaily dressed, clustered about the corridors awaiting admission. Then came the crash and the joyous throng was dropped 15 feet into the cellar, and covered with blocks of rock and concrete. Their bodies were ripped and torn.
A city building inspector reviewed the ruins and reported the floor had been improperly constructed. Sol Sezmick, proprietor, who was seriously injured in the crash, said the building was inspected two months ago and pronounced sound.

KATY TRAINS TO BE RESUMED FOR STATE FAIR WEEK

Beginning Monday, September 25, Katy passenger trains No. 16 and 23, which were suspended a short time after the initiation of the railroad shopmen's strike, will begin running on regular schedule, according to an announcement from the road superintendent here today.
The first announcement said that the trains would be continued only during the state fair at Oklahoma City, and that they probably would be taken off again after next Saturday. This was not definite, however, and many were of the opinion that the trains may be continued.
Morning train will arrive here at the regular schedule of 5:52 a. m. and the night train will get here at 10:18 p. m.

214 INDICTED IN HERRIN MINE WAR

Adjutant General Black is Blamed by Probers for Not Sending Troops.

(By the Associated Press)
MARION, Ill., Sept. 23.—In a comprehensive report the special grand jury which investigated the Herrin mine killings arraigned Adjutant General Black for failure to send troops, Sheriff Thaxton and local police for alleged failure to protect life and property, and returned a total of 214 indictments.
The jury returned six more indictments for murder, bringing the total to 44.
Discussing the Southern Illinois Coal company's action in re-opening the strip mine while the strike was in effect, the report states that the owner "either was woefully ignorant of the danger or blindly determined to risk strife if profit could be made."
Ransacking of hardware stores for ammunition and arms just before the attack was the result of a telegram from John Lewis, president of the United Mine Workers of America, declaring the non-union men to be strike breakers, the report said.
At present rate of increase the world's population will reach four billion in 2014.

Go-Getters

Professor Uses Bathing Beauty Slide by Error

OXFORD, Miss., Sept. 23.—The class of Grecian art students at the University of Mississippi here attending an illustrated lecture by one of the professors was nearly broken up by a freshman who slipped in some slides of bathing beauties. The beach girls were said to have been nearly as lacking in attire as some of the Greek statuary in the art gallery.
The lecture was entitled "Costumes and Customs of the Ancient Greek" and was not upon the lack thereof. Hence the professor thought the bathing beauties out of place and censored the remaining views.

GIANT DOPE RING BROKEN BY RAIDS

Narcotic Stock Valued at $500,000 Seized by Investigators.

(By the Associated Press)
ST. LOUIS, Sept. 23.—A small diary carried by Max Gordon, who is under arrest here on a charge of jumping bond in New York in connection with the sale of narcotics, is believed by local police to have furnished the information which led to the discovery of the headquarters of the gigantic drug ring in New York, which resulted in the seizure of narcotics with an estimated valuation of $500,000 by the New York police in a raid on the Douglas hotel last night.
Gordon, with Abe Goldfinger, was shot mysteriously here September 2 by an unidentified assailant. Both are suffering bullet wounds at a local hospital. Guards have been stationed at the bedside as police say they learned a New York gangster had contemplated coming here to spirit Gordon away from the hospital. Bond for the men was fixed at $10,000.
The diary, which bore the names of several New York men, was forwarded to the New York police by Chief of Police O'Brien, who also sent an accompanying letter containing additional information.
According to the local police the men under arrest here were the local agents for the drug ring.

WOMAN, 100, COOKS FOR "BABY", ONLY 59 YEARS OF AGE

(By the Associated Press)
ENID, Sept. 23.—Mrs. Sarah Mertz was back on the job Saturday of keeping house and cooking for her son Lewis, whom she calls her "baby", although he is 59 years old, after a strenuous day Friday spent in receiving the congratulations and good wishes of hundreds of friends on the occasion of the 100th anniversary of her birthday.
Mrs. Mertz, serene and smiling, greeted over 500 persons Friday afternoon when a public reception was held for her at the court house park. She was forced to forego shaking hands with all her "company" as she called her visitors, but had a ready smile for each person who filed by her and spoke to her.

WORLD EAGERLY AWAITS TIDINGS ABOUT MOSLEMS

OUTLOOK BRIGHTER

British and French Look for Settlement Upon Present Terms.

(By the Associated Press)
CONSTANTINOPLE, Sept. 23.—Within 36 hours the world will probably know whether the Turkish nationalists have chosen war or peace. The Angora cabinet meeting at Smyrna is expected hourly to declare whether the Kemalists will await the peace conference proposed by the powers or to invade Thrace.
France is expected to exert renewed pressure to keep the Turkish forces from any hostilities but many competent observers are frankly skeptical.
The Turks are fully aware of the weakness of the British land forces now holding points along the Asia Minor shore and are convinced of their ability to defeat them.
It is reported that the nationalist leader is opposed to hasty action, but it remains to be seen whether his strong personality can triumph over his colleagues.
The nationalists have brought up field guns to within ten miles from the northern shores of the Dardanelles.

PARIS, Sept. 23.—The prospects for peace in the near east were distinctly brighter today as the French and British cabinets met to consider the tentative conditions of settlements drawn up by the allied representatives here.
These conditions are expected to form the basis of negotiations at the peace conference soon to be summoned.
They provided for the reoccupation of Constantinople and eastern Thrace, including Adrianople, up to the line of the river, with a neutral zone along the Thracian, Bulgarian and Grecian frontiers; internationalization of the Dardanelles; maintenance of permanent allied military forces and strict guarantees for the protection of the minority in Turkey.

EVOLUTION OF THE COMB

From time to time down the countless ages philosophers and scientists have attempted to trace the evolution of man by his clothes, his religion, his inventions, his knowledge of the stars, his reading. All these theories make interesting reading and have some grain of truth. But it has fallen to the lot of Ed Gwin of this city to call attention to the history of the comb as an index to the advance of civilization. And the thing that makes it all the more interesting is that Ed is right, and all the scientists have been overlooking this homely fact.

From the distant ages when man first began to realize that he had reason and was different from the other animals of forests and plains, to a few centuries ago man took great pride in the hair which in some unexplainable way adorns his cranium. It used to flow long. Later she began to plait it, then began to curl it, milder sex in the distant past made little difference. It was the he of the species who wanted to attract by his beautiful appearance. Woman existed as the servant of the man and she served best if the man was handsome and beautiful. This state of affairs exists to this day in the kingdom of the lower beasts, the male being more beautiful than the female.

By and by things began to change. Man became the bread provider and woman was made attractive. At first she let her hair swing in long tresses to her knees, granted that she was fortunate enough to have them that long. Later she began to plait it, then began to curl it, and to give it the various waves. The latest thing is said to be an ocean wave, something resembling the majestic rolls of Neptune. It has not been decided yet whether attempts will be made to get the spectrum or a smaller number of colors to appear on the head of "My Merry Maid."

As woman advanced her method of beautifying the hair, an evolution of the comb was a necessity. When she plaited it, nothing more than a stick with a few protrusions was necessary. In fact, one of the most used combs was a cotton burr after the cotton had been picked out. Later the bone comb came into existence and this made possible the side comb, the pompadour comb, and others. Today with the wonderful variety of waves, the highest art has been reached in the production of combs. We are not prepared to say whether the improvement of the combs came as a result of the demand for them or whether the combs created the demand for the variation in hair adornment.

At any rate, Ed has given the world another thought, and this is something that happens only once to any man we know of and has happened to only a mere dozen or so since Cicero was making his orations or our forefathers were singing the Beowulf on the banks of the Thames.

Americans are not the first people to hunt ways of getting around laws. The ancient Romans, the law givers of the world, were pretty good at this game, too. In the days of Cicero the law forbade a sentence of banishment being passed on a Roman citizen. They got around that whenever the occasion demanded by forbidding one the use of fire and water within a radius of so many miles from Rome. Naturally there was nothing for a fellow to do except move out where he could get his meals cooked and take a few swigs from a spring occasionally.

The long drawn out session of congress has adjourned at last. Beginning with a session called early in his administration by President Harding it has been sitting most of the time during the past eighteen months. However, length of session and business disposed of have little connection. There has been much talk, much dodging of issues and passing of the buck but there is little to show for all of it. About the best the members can do will be to appeal to the voters to send them back under a promise to do something next time.

A business man advances the contention that the typewriter is the greatest invention of the age, so far as an aid to business is concerned. If writing had to be done with pen or pencil as in the old days it would be a physical impossibility to carry on business on modern lines. Whether or not the machine is the greatest invention, it is beyond dispute the greatest aid to business that could have been devised.

The Republican spiel about Democratic incompetence does not stand up when it is recalled that Oklahoma is the only state in the union which does not have to pay an ad valorem tax for the support of the state government for the next year.

A good winner does not crow about his achievements nor does a good loser whine about his hard luck. Each takes what comes and makes no fuss about it.

Make America Yet Stronger
(Fort Worth Record)

"It is no longer necessary to defend the United States from the charge of selfishness or isolation. The sacrifices made by this country, both in men and money, during the World war, are powerful arguments in favor of America's humanity and lofty purposes. The United States was the only nation to gain absolutely nothing in that gigantic struggle."

So writes Edward Nelson Dingley, who asks in the National Republican, "Must we learn by another war?" He discusses briefly present world affairs and competition going on among the classes and the nations, and also the question, "What is the remedy?"

The United States can best serve the world and the cause of peace strong and independent. This is Mr. Dingley's contention, and he quotes Theodore Roosevelt as saying, "The United States has no real friends but the United States."

"If there is to be another war in the future (and all pray not) it will be more readily promoted by permitting the ancient doctrine of world competition or 'a survival of the fittest' to have complete sway," insists Mr. Dingley.

Referring to the cause of the war, he declares there never has been a war into which economics did not enter to some degree, and there has seldom been a war into which economics did not enter to a great degree. Whatever political questions may have been, the immediate cause for the war for independence, the primary reasons were commercial. Whatever may have been the ancient jealousies and rivalries among the nations of Europe, the primary cause of the World war was economic, commercial.

"There is hatred in Europe today," he says, "due to economic conditions and to trade rivalry. Europe is hungry and angry. The World war was not so much of a success, after all, as this hatred and hunger continues. The war did not preserve civilization or 'save the world from democracy.' What is the trouble?"

Mr. Dingley owes his fame in part to his earnest advocacy of a protective tariff and it is natural he should urge as a part of the remedy that the foreign trade of the United States should be increased, arguing this may best be done "under protection of a program of modification of world competition and the survival of the fittest," and at the same time it should be made impossible for other nations to injure American producers and manufacturers or to upplant American labor with the products of cheap foreign labor.

"If the world persists in marching along the road of world competition and 'the survival of the fittest,' another war is not far off," he declares. "This is the reason the United States adopts a program of economic and industrial protection. It will go more than any other program to avoid another war."

When Will Leaders Appear?

(Lawton Constitution)

History is full of tales of desperate chances which some man succeeded because some man was not afraid to lead. In America today exists a chance, far from desperate, and but waiting a great leader who will point the way—who will he be?

The press is full of "remedies" for the industrial unrest which results in strikes and lockouts. Editorial after editorial explains that all that is needed in a fuller understanding between capital and labor; a mutual forbearance, a playing each into the other's hand, a co-operation between them for their mutual advantage.

All it is explained, which is needed is for some great corporation to lead the way and treat labor as something to be considered, consulted, profited, and helped, or some great body of labor to lead the way and, instead of seeing how much they may exact from an employer for the least work, to try the other scheme and see how much they can do in a given time to profit the employer and let the wages depend not on organization and threats, but upon the work done and the spirit of cooperation.

That's all. But as yet the leader does not appear. No great corporation as yet fails to get the best of the bargain if it can when making terms with labor. No labor organization as yet has considered the employing interest before its own. And if you ask why, the answer is plain; because men are selfish, because men distrust each other, because experience has proven to each that neither is wholly to be trusted.

Then the answer, the real answer is an inclination of a spirit of selfishness, and a spirit of trust.

75,000 TONS COAL BOUGHT BY STATE

Immense Fuel Bills Pour in on Treasury from Institutions.

OKLAHOMA CITY, Okla., Sept. 22.—Purchase of approximately 75,000 tons of coal for various state institutions has been practically completed by the state board of public affairs, according to George F. Clark, chairman. This immense quantity was bought at prices ranging from four to four and a half dollars a ton, f. o. b. mines, the chairman said.

A large part of the tonnage of coal purchased for state institutions has been already or is now being delivered, Clark said. He stated that he did not anticipate any trouble in deliveries because in each case that is guaranteed by the seller. Only coal produced in Oklahoma was bought, he said.

The price range of from four dollars to four dollars and a half a ton held for all the coal purchased with the exception of one small lot of about 2,000 tons, Clark said. That instance was balanced by another, in which coal was purchased to be delivered at the Eastern hospital for the insane at Vinita at $4.75 a ton, from nearby mines.

Three Fuels Used.
Coal is only one of three fuels in use at various institutions by the state, according to Clark, the other two being natural gas and oil. Coal was burned at the state reformatory at Granite last year, he said, but gas is now in use at two-thirds the cost of coal. If the price of gas is raised there, he added, the reformatory will return to the use of coal.

A number of state institutions have been equipped to burn oil, including the state university and central hospital for the insane at Norman, the state capitol, Oklahoma College for Women at Chickasha, the reform school at Granite and the school for the blind at Muskogee. No coal has been contracted for delivery at the university as yet, Clark said, the plan being to burn oil there this winter.

A difference of opinion as to the comparative costs and values of coal and oil as fuel exists between representatives of oil companies and the board of public affairs, according to Clark. He said that the oil concerns contend that three barrels of oil have the same fuel value as a ton of coal, while state experts say that it takes four to five barrels of oil to equal in heating value a ton of coal. He said that a comparison is to be worked out at the university this winter.

In other words, all those who stand in church and admit the Fatherland of God, must stand in factory, at bench, beside desk, in a bank, on farm, railroad, and in mines, and practice the Brotherhood of Man. Then, and not until then, will the leader arise who will make capital and labor truly fraternal instead of opponents.

Officers Baffled In Their Attempt to Find Murderer

(By the Associated Press)
NEW BRUNSWICK, Sept. 23.—Baffled in their efforts to trace the slayers of the Rev. Hall and his choir leader, Mrs. Mills, authorities today planned their hopes of getting some light through volunteer statements by members of the church.

Witnesses have told the authorities of seeing two rapidly moving automobiles on the road near the spot where the bodies were found. James Mills, husband of the dead choir leader, has told newspaper men that detectives had not hesitated to ask him point blank whether he shot his wife and the rector.

He said also that he agreed with the theory that the rector and Mrs. Mills may have been shot by some woman in the congregation who was jealous of his wife.

Busy Housewife Should Consider Problems of Chef on the Big Liner

Wee Travellers Visit the Chef's Domain

New York. Housewives who are at their wits' end to plan a variety of meals for a week for the average sized family will be interested in a recent survey made of the cuisine service of the United States Lines. It developed that 117,000 meals are served on a voyage by each of the bigger liners of the fleet, the voyage being the time consumed by the vessel from the time of its departure from New York for Europe and return to the home port.

Misses Housewife who is worried by the planning of meals for the little family would do well to think of the problems that confront the chef steward and the chef on an ocean liner. The survey of the cuisine situation developed the fact that some 4,170 meals a day are served aboard ship. There are six services in the course of the day as follows: coffee, 6:00 A. M.; breakfast, 8:00 to 10:00 A. M.; luncheon, 1:00 to 2:00 P. M.; tea, 3:00 to 5:00 P. M.; dinner, 6:00 to 8:00 P. M., and buffet service, 9:30 to 10:30 P. M.

In the survey made of the steward's departments of the various vessels of the United States Lines fleet the fact was developed that Americans as a race are heavy eaters. Furthermore they eat much more rapidly than the European. Your European makes almost a rite of his meals. The American regards it as a task to be performed as rapidly as possible.

The chef on the liner must not only oversee the preparations of all the regular meals and luncheons, but must prepare special services. Invalids, for instance, must have specially prepared dishes and no matter what their desires may be they are supplied from the ample larders aboard the ships. Birthdays and other anniversaries call for service on the part of the ship's chef. Furthermore the chef must consider the tastes of many nationalities. He must study the passenger list and where he finds that there are a large number of English, American, French, German, or other nationals on board, he must create dishes with which they are familiar. The chef is ever on the job and during the trip hardly gets time to sleep.

There is keen competition among the chef stewards and chefs on the vessels of the United States Lines and whenever one creates a new dish that makes an appeal to the travelling public, a news spread and new dishes begin to make their appearance on other ships. The chefs are all men who have had long training in big hotels ashore and on ships at sea.

In advance of a trip the chef steward and the chef must carefully calculate the amount of provisions necessary for the voyage. Aboard the vessels of the United States Lines it is estimated that each passenger consumes from one pound to one pound and one-half of potatoes a day. Americans, it might be stated, are great potato eaters. In the matter of roasts six ounces per person per day are allowed. Steaks and chops are estimated at one-half pound per person on individual orders. Game and poultry amounts to one pound per person. As an idea of the amount of food carried aboard a ship it might be stated that in provisioning the Stea. ship George Washington recently 6,500 pounds of poultry and game were placed on board. In the matter of potatoes there were 30,000 pounds and other vegetables amounting to 10,500 pounds. Of milk there were 25,000 quarts, supplemented by 500 quarts of cream. There were 14 kinds of cheese with a total weight of 500 pounds and of tea and coffee 8,000 pounds.

In feeding the passengers aboard a large liner the task of the chef is equal to that of a man seeking to provide food for a small city.

Farmers' Column

By Byron Norrell

Education is one of my hobbies and anything that promises to help the boys and girls always appeals to me. Also, anything indicating progress on their part is highly interesting. In this connection the school exhibits at the township and county fairs gave me a great deal of satisfaction. They showed that both teachers and pupils are taking pains in their work and are going forward all the time. Cedar Grove which won first honors for the collective exhibit of the grade schools, is to be highly commended, for it is not only a small school, but the teachers, Misses Stephens and Rushing had been there only during the summer term of two months.

Ben Floyd of Ahlosso will have a bunch of turkeys to put on the market at Thanksgiving and Christmas. He has a drove of 50 bronze birds which have been raised this season. If the prices are as good as they were last year he will realize a nice sum from them.

It will not be long until rabbits will begin gnawing the bark from young fruit trees, unless prevented. Sometimes people wrap the trunks with rags. I found that rubbing the trees with tallow will also keep the rabbits from bothering them.

I hear a good many farmers say they will make a little more cotton than they anticipated. This is good news for every pound is needed and will help pay a debt or apply on some necessity of life. With the weevils and hot winds in the same season it has been no summer picnic for the cotton farmer. From all reports the crop will average a quarter of a bale to the acre.

The watermelon season is about over. For several days of last week W. P. Abbott had the market to himself. He raised a good crop of melons and was among the first to begin marketing them.

Rival Psalmist

High School Students Try Hand at Penning Better Lines Than King David.

From some written work being done in Prof. J. L. Gorman's English classes in the high school, some interesting poetry was found. Below are two versions of the Twenty-Third psalm. They resulted from Mr. Gorman's suggestion that the pupils try to compose a better psalm or song than that contained in the old Bay Psalm Book. This was given as a reading in American Literature. Here is one production: The Lord is my Shepherd, I shall not want;

He maketh me down to lie In pastures green; He leadeth me The quiet waters by. My soul He doth restore again, And me to walk doth make. Within the paths of righteousness Even for his own name's sake. Though dark the vale unto my God, No evil will I see. For Thou art with me, and Thy rod And staff shall comfort me: A table Thou hast furnished me Before my very foes: My head with oil Thou dost anoint, With love my cup o'erflows. Goodness and mercy all my life Shall surely follow me. And in God's house for evermore My dwelling place shall be. —Vernon Deering.

A boy wrote the following: The teacher is my driver, I shall not sleep; He maketh me to sit up all night. He leadeth me before the class to speak.

He lengthens out my lessons, Yes, though I will finish them He will assign more, And I shall get no rest. I shall ever fear him, He is ever near. His yard stick and voice threaten me. Their meaning is clear: He prepareth my assignments In the presence of picture shows. He anointeth my eyes with tears, My vocabulary overflows. Surely knowledge and labor shall follow me. Consent to leave me never; No more at play I wish to be, I'll dwell in school forever. —Vester Willoughby.

The part of her cargo billed for this port will be unloaded by lighters. The vessel is due Tuesday and will ride at anchor at a safe distance out.

Greenland is Denmark's only colony.

Tyrus Cobb May Add Thirteenth Star to Crown This Year

NEBRASKA CALLING ON GRIDSTERS FOR VICTORIOUS MARCH

Cornhusker Football Men Face Demand from Fans for Repetition.

(By the Associated Press)
LINCOLN, Sept. 23.—Confronting a demand from students calling for a repetition of the 1921 successful football campaign, the Nebraska Cornhuskers today are hard at work at football practice. Twenty letter men and a string of thirty incoming and prospective candidates greeted Coach Fred T. Dawson when he marched onto the field with Captain "Chick" Hartley to start a three weeks practice grind previous to the opening game October 7 with the University of South Dakota.

With a veteran reporting for every position and more than one fighting to hold down some of the places, Coach Dawson finds himself molding a team from a string of experienced men.

No light schedule faces the Cornhuskers this year. Starting with S. Dakota and then falling into a two weeks rest previous to the invasion into the camp of the University of Missouri, the Nebraska eleven will have to go into every game fighting hard.

Missouri, the first important game in the eyes of the Husker followers, will prove to be a strong drawing card.

A week following the Missouri game, the Huskers will journey to Norman to meet the Oklahoma Sooners. The Sooners have a 44 to 0 defeat of last year to revenge.

Syracuse Game Nov. 4
On November 4, comes the big game away from home. Nebraska goes to Syracuse, N. Y., for its only game in the east. Syracuse is chafing under a 3 to 0 defeat administered two years ago on the snow covered Husker field as the finale of an almost victorious season for the New Yorkers. That defeat was made possible by the boot of Captain Paul Dobson, whose punting and drop kick ability factored in many victories during his school days. It was "Dobbs" last game in Husker molehills. The year previous a missed goal kick lost a Turkey day contest by a 10 to 9 count in favor of Syracuse.

Homecoming day, November 18, the Kansas Aggies meet Nebraska at Lincoln. The Aggies have prospects ranking with any team in the valley and old grads expect to return by the hundreds to help defeat the invaders.

Ames was one of the three teams which scored on Nebraska last year and it comes to Lincoln on November 25 promising to repeat the offense. Nebraska says "they shall not pass" or rather "they shall not score," and the Huskers must solve a hard problem to fulfill the statement.

Notre Dame will invade the Husker camp on Thanksgiving Day. In two games, Notre Dame has won four and Nebraska two while the other was a tie. Notre Dame is the feature of the Husker schedule this year.

SUITING UP FAT PLAYER CAUSES GREAT PROBLEM

(By the Associated Press)

SIOUX FALLS, S. D., Sept. 23.—Weighing 245 pounds and carrying a waist measurement of 57 inches, Chester "Fat" Nissen, a senior in the University of South Dakota, presented a new problem to the athletic authorities of the institution when he reported for football practice.

After searching through all available gridiron equipment, Coach Allison failed to find one article that the giant candidate could squeeze his body into.

The question of togs for the beefy warrior was finally solved when the village harness maker sewed seven inches of white canvas into each leg of the trousers and a feminine football enthusiast spliced three red jerseys together to complete the uniform.

At a "watermelon feed" given to members of the squad, Nissen won a clear title to the culinary championship of the squad when he devoured fourteen choice melons.

The first day that the big man reported for practice he "sweated out" nine pounds. Although this is his fourth year in the institution, Nissen is making his first attempt at trying to solve the mysteries of football. He has announced himself as a candidate for a berth in the line.

COLLEGE GRID MEN MEET HIGH SCHOOL IN HOT SCRIMMAGE

Coaches are Pleased at Form of Local Teams in First Action.

College and high school grid men clashed Friday afternoon for the first time this season. The scrimmage was on college field, and although unofficial, it gave coaches of the two squads their first opportunity to see the men in action.

Originally the high school was billed to play the Roff football team here, but at a late hour Roff cancelled the date. Fruitless efforts were made to get a game with some nearby school.

Ada high was anxious for the contest in order to get ready for their approaching game with Okmulgee here Friday. This is to be one of the most important games of the season, since Ada high has never been able to defeat the Okmulgee team. It has been his jinx. Okmulgee spoiled a good record last year by handing Ada a 7 to 0 defeat.

Paul Rayburn, who has been running left end, was transferred to quarterback position yesterday and showed up well. Cox is now considering putting Rayburn permanently at quarter, using Gregg, Baker and Saddle at end and running Carr and Potts at half. This will permit the use of Nettles at tackle and completes the filling of the gap in both back field and forwards.

Thompson used a number of his most promising players. Neither side was in very good form but the men went in with a will. From the appearance of the men in scrimmage, local fans are to be given some good exhibitions of football here this year. Thompson's squad is expected to produce results. He has more material than ever before.

Support of high school athletics is already better than last year. Sale of season tickets has advanced with some success and was to close today. Those who are pushing the matter believe that enough will be sold to assure the bringing of three or four teams to Ada this year in addition to the five games out of town.

An automobile, packed in knock-down form, was shipped from Detroit to Cleveland by ariel freight.

"THE WORLDLY MADONNA" says—"Pretense and sham seem what they are not and pride always goeth before a fall."

Today Ushers in Great Season for Grid Teams

NEW YORK, Sept. 23.—This will be a holocaust year on the gridiron. After the great strides that football, the most popular of college sports and rival of baseball in the public's highest regard has made in the last few years it sounds bromidic to say that the coming season will be the greatest in the game's history. Yet that's the fact.

The season won't start any earlier, nor is there likelihood of it extending past New Year's day. The day of the usual carnival game at Los Angeles—but it will be stuffed and choked from the first kick-off September 23 with the ingredients that bring hundreds of thousands away from warm firesides to freeze in cold blasts.

Opponents of the inter-sectional idea who have contended that the game was growing beyond bounds and becoming the god before which education was being sacrificed get small comfort from a personal of the schedules. At least 40 games will be held that it will take at least a night on the sleeper for one of the opposing teams to reach.

All Teams Busy.

On the five Saturdays beginning with October 7 there will be at least six or seven inter-sectional contests, scattered all over the country. Kansas is coming to West Point, Georgia Tech and Princeton are going to Chicago, the "Praying Colonels" from Center College, Danville, Ky., are scheduled at Harvard, Nebraska has a date with Syracuse, Notre Dame will tussle with Army at West Point, Alabama will scrimmage with Pennsylvania at Philadelphia—just to pick a few at random.

The season of 1922 marks further loosening of the monopoly that the East once had on the big contests. There not only are more games scheduled than ever before but there are more inter-sectional contests, and intra-sectional matches of genuine importance than the pigskin dreamed of when it was more of a pig than a skin and could dream.

Yale and Harvard both said last fall that they would not tread in the path of Princeton and invade the Western Conference. Just the same the schedules shows that two weeks before the Tiger is clawing around at the University of Chicago the Bill Dog will be snarling at Iowa, champion of the Big Ten, in the bowl at New Haven. Harvard apparently is satisfied with entertaining the team from the Blue Grass State.

New York City loses its school picture play. The Army and Navy game previously held at the Polo Grounds will be staged in the reconstructed Franklin Field of the University of Pennsylvania at Philadelphia. Instead of being played on the traditional Saturday following Thanksgiving it will be played on the preceding Saturday the same day as the Yale-Harvard game.

There will be several revivals of football relations between institutions that permitted their historic gridiron enmity to lapse. Notably among these are Harvard and Dartmouth.

Rules are Changed

One radical change in the rules will make the game a bit different. Instead of being confined to trying for goal after a touchdown by a kick from placement the scoring eleven will be given the option of placing the ball anywhere beyond the five-yard line with the privilege of putting it into play in scrimmage—a line plunge or end run, or passing, or by kicking a field goal. The ball must be put over with out try to get a point score of one. The new play will be known as the "try for point."

A foul by the defending team when the "try for point" is being made automatically gives the attackers the advantage, and if the attacking team fouls its attempt is vitiated.

A player taken out in the first half can not return until the second half and a player taken out in the second half is out for the remainder of the contest.

The more important, but not all, of the inter-sectional games scheduled for the season which opens today are as follows:

September 30: Cincinnati vs. Pittsburgh at Cincinnati.
October 7: Pennsylvania vs. University of the South at Philadelphia; Army vs. Kansas at West Point; Washington vs. Montana at Seattle; Yale vs. North Carolina at New Haven.

October 14: Princeton vs. Virginia at Princeton; University of Georgia vs. Chicago at Chicago.
October 21: Cincinnati vs. Georgetown at Washington; Pennsylvania vs. Maryland at Philadelphia; Army vs. Alabama at West Point; Arizona vs. Southern California at Los Angeles; Vanderbilt vs. Michigan at Nashville; Wisconsin vs. South Dakota State at Madison; Yale vs. Iowa at New Haven.

October 28: Detroit vs. Boston College at Detroit; Fordham vs. Georgetown at New York; Center vs. Harvard at Cambridge; Missouri vs. Nebraska at Lincoln; Princeton vs. Maryland at Princeton; Vanderbilt vs. Texas at Dallas; Navy vs. Georgia at Annapolis.

October 28: Georgia Tech vs. Notre Dame at Atlanta; Iowa State vs. Washington at Ames; Oberlin vs. Amherst at Oberlin; Springfield vs. Detroit at Springfield; Texas vs. Alabama at Austin; Chicago vs. Princeton at Chicago.

November 4: West Virginia vs. Cincinnati at Cincinnati; Harvard vs. Florida at Boston; Pennsylvania vs. Alabama at Philadelphia; Nebraska vs. Syracuse at Syracuse.

November 7: Rutgers vs. Louisiana State at New York.

November 11: Syracuse vs. McGill University at Syracuse; Army vs. Notre Dame at West Point; Yale vs. Maryland at New Haven.

November 25: Washington and Jefferson vs. Detroit at Detroit; Iowa State vs. Nebraska at Lincoln.

November 30: Vermont vs. Detroit at Detroit; Nebraska vs. Notre Dame at Lincoln.

ROGERS HORNSBY TO SEEK RECORD OVER .400 MARK

(By the Associated Press)

Rogers Hornsby, the St. Louis star, who for the past two years has carried off premier batting honors of the National League has launched a final drive to boost his 1922 average above the coveted .400 mark.

The St. Louis favorite is on the brink of his ambition, the figures showing him hitting .399. In 1920 he topped the league hitters with a mark of .370 and last season romped off with the honors with an average of .397.

Hornsby fell into a slump early in August, but when Jimmy Tierney of the Pirates and "Hack" Miller of the Cubs began to threaten, he recovered his batting eye and started to pull away. This drive was started about the middle of August, when he was hitting only .374. He has steadily increased and at the rate he is traveling he will easily attain his goal—the .400 mark.

In his last seven games Hornsby cracked out thirteen hits, three of which were doubles and four were home runs.

Tierney, who has been tagging Hornsby's heels, suffered a slump during the past week, but continues to be the runner up with an average of .372. Miller of the Cubs is in third place with an average of .357. The averages include games of Wednesday.

Max Carey of the Pirates has the base stealing honors easily sewed up for the season with forty-four thefts, his closest rivals being Burns of Cincinnati and Frisch of New York who are tied with twenty-eight.

Other leading batters for 100 or more games: Grimes, Chicago, .351; Bigbee, Pittsburgh, .348; Hollocher, Chicago, .344; Harper, Cincinnati, .340; Daubert, Cincinnati, .339; Carey, Pittsburgh, .334; Young, New York, .334; Walker, Philadelphia, .333; Meusel, New York, .330.

Carl East is Ready to Seal up Western League Stick Title

With an average of .389, Carl East, the Wichita veteran, has the batting championship of the Western League all wrapped up and ready to be sealed for the close of the 1922 season. He has a lead of eleven points over Manush of Omaha, whose average is .378, while Bennett of the pennant winning Tulsa club, is third with .370.

East, in the closing days of the race, may upset the home run hitters and carry off this honor in addition to the individual batting. He has belted out thirty homers, just three behind Davis of Tulsa, who is leading the race. Lamb also of Tulsa has connected with thirty-two.

Perhaps the most remarkable batting performance of the week was the work of Lamb, and boosted himself from eleventh to fifth position, for an average of .362.

Hemingway of Sioux City, with fifty-four stolen bases, to his credit, is leading Elsh, his teammate, by a margin of two.

Other leading batters for ninety-five or more games: Lelivelt, Tulsa, .363; Metz, Sioux City, .360; Grantham, Omaha, .359; Elsh, Sioux City, .358; Berger, Wichita, .356; Fisher, St. Joseph, .354; Stuart, Tulsa, .351; Davis, Tulsa, .351.

By Norman E. Brown HELL NEED TO HURRY UP, Will Coach Yost beginning his twenty-second season as coach of the Michigan university football team.

For he must develop almost a complete new line for his eleven. He has a veteran backfield and two veteran ends, but must depend entirely on new material to produce the inner linemen. And Yost knows full well the havoc a weak center in a line can cause.

Yost began his coaching career at Michigan after winning fame as a football player with Ohio Northern university, the University of West Virginia and Lafayette. One of Yost's achievements as a player was in solving, with the other members of the Lafayette team, the famous "guard back" shift of Pennsylvania's eleven, which was then the talk of footballdom.

He began his coaching career at Ohio Wesleyan and won the Ohio championship the first year. He also held Michigan to a tie. He played in that game himself when one of his men became ill, leaving him only ten men.

He coached at Nebraska, Kansas and Leland Stanford with phenomenal success before Michigan officials signed him for the 1901 season. In that first season he built up a team that ran up 550 points and was not scored upon. That was only the beginning of his fame.

Democratic Race Officially Opens Thru County Today

Democratic campaigning for victory in the November election officially opened in the city Saturday.

District Judge J. W. Bolen, candidate to succeed himself on the democratic ticket, was met at the train by a band this morning upon his return from Colorado. A few minutes later he addressed an audience at Main and Broadway upon issues of the race. Bolen scored republican tactics and reminded farmers and laborers that for the first time they had actually had something to say in nominating a governor.

He said J. C. Walton, democratic nominee for the gubernatorial chair, was a friend of the farm and of labor and should have the united support of these classes.

Word to that effect has been received by Hamilton and Pendleton, attorneys for the company. Incorporators are A. D. Young and Delia A. Young of Nowata, and Viola Young, of Yates Center, Kansas. The firm's authorized capital is $100,000.

DETROIT STAR NOW ONLY A SHORT WAY BEHIND HIS RIVAL

With Sisler Out of Game, Georgia Peach Has His Chance for Title.

(By the Associated Press)

CHICAGO, Sept. 23.—Tyrus Raymond Cobb, batting champion of the American League for twelve out of fifteen years, may realize his ambition to be crowned with that coveted honor this year.

The Detroit veteran, in his flight to overtake George Sisler of the Browns, today is just seventeen points behind the St. Louis star, but with Sisler out of the game, Cobb has a chance to pass him provided he averages two hits or more for the remaining games of the season and Sisler fails in the role of pinch hitter.

Sisler's average including games of Wednesday, .418 compared with a mark of .424 a week ago, a falling off of six points. Cobb is collecting hits to the tune of .391 and is displaying no indications of slowing up as the clubs swing into the final stretch of the race. But Sisler's heart and soul is in baseball, and it is almost an impossibility to keep him out of the game, despite physician's orders. He insists upon getting into his uniform, even although he does not get into the line-up, so that he may be ready to take a crack at the ball when called as a pinch hitter. This absence from the game may help the "Georgia Peach" in his quest for the batting honors.

Led Since 1907

Cobb led the American League every year from 1907 with the exception of in 1916 when Tris Speaker, of the Indians, took the honors and in 1920 when Sisler was crowned king, and last season when Harry Heilmann of the Tigers crowded Cobb out of first place.

Sisler's mark for stolen bases appears to be safely tucked away, as his forty-seven thefts is thirteen better than his closest rival Kenneth Williams, a teammate.

Williams bagged a brace of home runs during the past week and is tied with Rogers Hornsby with thirty-nine for the leadership of the major leagues.

Other leading batters for 100 games or more: Speaker, Cleveland, .376; Heilmann, Detroit, .357; Tobin, St. Louis, .331; Calloway, Philadelphia, .330; Fipp, New York, .329; Williams, St. Louis, .328; Ed. Miller, Philadelphia, .328; Bassler, Detroit, .328; Severeld, St. Louis, .325; Veach, Detroit, .324; Schang, New York, .324; Meusel, New York, .324.

Milwaukee Catcher Has Strong Chance to Lead Americans

Going stronger than ever, Glenn Myatt, star catcher with Milwaukee, today has a nine point lead over his rivals in the race for the batting championship of the American Association. As the season draws to a close, Myatt apparently is in no danger of being displaced, as he continues to strengthen his position, instead of losing ground.

In his last six games, Myatt connected with nine hits, which boosted his average to .373, compared with .367 a week ago. Becker of Kansas City, the runner-up is batting .364, which was his average last week. Kirke of Louisville, third in the list, shot his average up to .362, an advance of three points.

Bunny Brief of Kansas City, with thirty-seven homers in his old kit bag, is assured of these honors. Becker, a teammate, is second in home run hitting with twenty-five. The base stealers, however, are still neck and neck, with Baird of Indianapolis having the edge with twenty-seven. Lamar of Toledo and Berghammer of St. Paul are close up with twenty-four.

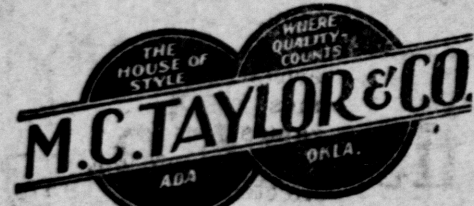

Other leading batters for ninety-five or more games: Lear, Milwaukee, .354; Magee, Minneapolis, .353; Good, Kansas City, .352; Lamar, Toledo, .352; Brown, Indianapolis, .350; Brief, Kansas City, .342; Combs, Louisville, .341; Mathews, Milwaukee, .338; Hendryx, St. Paul, .338.

OKLAHOMA CITY—That Oklahoma boys and girls have joined agricultural and home economics clubs to the number of 33,000, the largest membership in any state in the union, was a recent statement by J. A. Whitehurst, president of the state board of agriculture. He said that in Kansas boys and girls clubs had a membership of only about 9,000, while in Texas and Arkansas the membership totals are even less.

RALEIGH, N. C., Aug. 5.—A detachment of 20 men of the Derringer machine gun company and another detachment of 15 men of the Raleigh service company, North Carolina national guard, were today guarding three negroes brought to the state prison here yesterday following their arrest in connection with the shooting of E. S. Ketchen, of Miami, Fla., near Southern Pines when he fought an attack by negroes on Mrs. Ketchen.

Mr. and Mrs. Ketchen were attacked while en route from Miami to New York in an automobile. It was said Ketchen had a slight chance to recover.

PREACHER RUNS GRAIN HARVEST AT LOW FIGURE

(By the Associated Press)

STANFORD, ILL., — A preacher who took hold of a threshing crew, managed it, kept books, acted as timekeeper and man of all work in this section of the state an example of system and cooperative effort in the usual haphazard business of threshing. He operated his crew at the low cost of 20 cents a minute.

The preacher-manager is Rev. N. B. Crabtree, who has a church southeast of Stanford. Under Rev. Mr. Crabtree's direction, a "ring" of farmers was organized to cooperate in threshing the grain of the neighborhood.

Under Rev. Crabtree's management this year the ring saved three days time by "watching the corners," a method by which he saved time by dividing the crew into relays for dinner, one group going to dinner while the other kept the machine going. In this way each man was given a full hour for dinner and the machine was not idle more than half an hour. The "boarding house scramble" for the first time was also eliminated since there was always room for each group at one sitting.

It also was Rev. Mr. Crabtree's job to keep an eye on the feeder to see that no grain was wasted. He also cleaned up under the feeder when ever a job was finished, placed feed and hay handy for the horses, arranged with the women as to the exact time for dinner and, according to the farmers concerned made himself useful in many other ways besides as general manager.

The order in which the fields were to be threshed and the approximate amount of labor each man was to furnish were determined at a preliminary meeting. On the basis of the labor cost the previous year the basis of pay was decided at $3 per day for each man, $4.50 a day for a man and a team, 25 cents a head for horse feed and 74 cents for each man's dinner.

Rev. Mr. Crabtree's record showed the labor, meals and fodder supplied to and by each farmer, and whether he was debtor or creditor of the ring. At the end of the threshing season the ring met in the schoolhouse, and on the back board Rev. Crabtree explained every item of expense. Every farmer had his check book with him and a settlement was made on the spot.

Stillwater.—Sixty Oklahoma counties took advantage this year of the scholarship fund provided by the state legislature for helping students of agriculture and home economics attend the A. and M. college according to reports just compiled in the office of J. B. Eskridge, president of the institution.

WEAK; RUN-DOWN

Caroline Lady Got So She Could Just Drag.—"Cardui Built Me Up," She Declares.

Kernersville, N. C.—In an interesting statement regarding Cardui, the Women's Tonic, Mrs. Wesley Mabe, of near here, recently said: "I have known Cardui for years, but never knew its worth until a year or so ago. I was in a weakened, run-down condition. I became draggy—didn't eat or sleep to do any good; couldn't do anything without a great effort. I tried different remedies and medicines, yet I continued to drag.

"I decided to give Cardui a trial, and found it was just what I really needed. It made me feel much stronger soon after I began to use it. I began to eat more, and the nervous, weak feeling began to leave. Soon I was sleeping good.

"Cardui built me up as no other tonic ever did.

"I used Cardui with one daughter who was puny, felt bad and tired out all the time. It brought her right out, and soon she was as well as a girl could be. We think there is nothing like Cardui."

Do not allow yourself to become weak and run-down from womanly troubles. Take Cardui. You may find it just what you really need. For more than 40 years it has been used by thousands and thousands, and found just as Mrs. Mabe describes.

When Trouble Comes

By ELLA SAUNDERS

Copyright, 1922, Western Newspaper Union.

Sawyer was ruined. The combine that he had hoped to smash had smashed him beyond repair. He had hung up the telephone in his office for the last time.

Mechanically he put on his hat and went out. Everybody knew. The clerks and typists had received their two weeks' pay in advance, with notice. There was a subtle change in their demeanor. They no longer bent over their work when Sawyer passed. They were gossiping insolently about him. The office boy forgot to open the door. Why should he? He was no longer in Sawyer's employment.

The negro elevator boy grinned at Sawyer when he took him down. Sawyer was finished. There was probably no last tip in Sawyer's pocket for him. There wasn't. Sawyer passed out into the hall.

His eyes lit up as a beautiful, fashionably dressed lady came toward him. This was Miss Eaton—a very intimate friend, perhaps his most intimate. There was a strange look on her face. "What's this I hear about you, Jim?" she asked.

"It's true, whatever you've heard, Helen," Sawyer answered. "I'm blown up, finished."

She stared at him incredulously. "And what are you going to do about me?" she asked.

Sawyer drew her into an alcove, away from prying eyes. "Listen, Helen, I've five thousand left," he said. "I might raise five thousand more. Will you come away with me to that little paradise of an isle we've spoken of?"

Miss Eaton tossed her head contemptuously. "Well, I guess not!" she answered. "No love in a tropical cottage for mine, thank!"

And Sawyer quailed before her contempt. This struck him more bitterly than anything in the world.

"What are you going to do for me?" Miss Eaton continued. "How's my allowance going on?"

Sawyer turned on her fiercely. "It isn't!" he answered. "You've swallowed every penny of mine you're going to have."

She began pleading, threatening. Sawyer cast her off with contempt. She flung a vicious phrase at him and passed out of the building.

Sawyer went to the telephone booth and called up his wife's lawyers. "Tell Mrs. Sawyer that her suit will not be contested," he said. "This is James Sawyer speaking."

He went home to his lonely apartment. It was three months since his wife had found out about Miss Eaton and left him. But Miss Eaton was only the last of a long series of loves. Sawyer sat down and began thinking.

He had been married eighteen years. At first he and Marian had loved each other, but that was when he was a fifteen-dollar clerk and they had a three-room apartment uptown. Those days seemed very fair to look back upon now. He had been happier with her there than at any time afterward when they lived in luxury. They had been so fond of Tom, their only child—Tom who had turned out bad and disappeared years before.

That had severed the last bond between them. Sawyer had been surprised when Marian left him. He had not thought that she would mind about Miss Eaton. He had even thought she had known. But what a fool a man was to follow false lures!

He sat alone in his study. The servants were expecting notice, there was only the man and man relationship between them now. He had always known there was hate beneath the man's smooth exterior.

Well, there was only one thing for it. A man could not live alone, and Sawyer had not even a dog. He opened a little drawer in his desk, took out something shining—some one was in the hall. He replaced it hastily. The door opened. Marian stood in the room. She came forward. "You're ruined, Jim!"

"That's right, Marian. I've told Heath & Hodges not to contest your suit. I'm sorry it'll have to go so hard with you."

Marian came slowly toward him. Her lips trembled.

"And I—I've told Heath & Hodges not to proceed," she said. "Oh, my dear, my dear, let me comfort you!" She knelt at his side. "Let us forgive each other," she whispered. "When trouble comes whom should I stand by but you? I've failed, too, failed you in my love. We've got what we deserved. Do you remember the—the little flat uptown—in the old days? Let's go back and begin all over again. We're young enough—with love."

Sawyer snapped the drawer that held the shining thing into position. He drew his wife into his arms. "Trouble's gone," he answered. "Nothing can ever trouble us again."

Preparedness.
Brother Joe came forward to be baptized.

The parson said: "Yoh done been baptized twelve times, Jo. An' again you come forward into de fold. Ain't dat de truf, dat yoh has been baptized befoh?"

"Dat's de truf," said Brother Joe. "How often do you expect to be baptized, I ax yoh?"

"I reckon every yeah," said Brother Joe. "De oftener I gets dish mortal clay soaked, de safer I'll sure be de the sparks on de great day when de world am all on fire. Hallelujah!"
